Workshop on “Observational Methods”
31st March 2017

Amity Institute of Behavioural and Allied Sciences organized a one day workshop on “Observation Methods” for its UG and PG students on 31st March 2017. The session was conducted by Prof. Andy Grayson, Northwestern Trent university, U.K. Workshop was inaugurated and addressed by Prof. Padmakali Banerjee, Pro Vice-Chancellor and Dean Academic. Observation (watching what people do) would seem to be an obvious method of carrying out research in psychology. Prof. Andy Grayson explains participant & non-participant observation with examples. The knowledge of observation method has a great value in the field of social science research. Participants learnt how to choose the observation method for social science research. They also learnt how to analyze individual/group behavior.
