LEGAL AID CAMP

FOR AWARENESS TO WEAR MASK AND USE SANITIZER

'The guiding Motto of Amity Law School, AUMP is to make students tall leaders in Legal Profession, who remain relevant to the Society and are responsible citizens, cognizant of their problems. This is slow and steady process. Afterall, 'Rome was not built in a day'. We always teach our students that they should 'Never waste a Crisis'. In this backdrop, on the occasion of Amity Innovation Day, Amity Law School, AUMP, we could not think better than organising a Legal Aid Camp on 28th September in coordination with District Legal Services Authority (DLSA), District Court Gwalior, to create awareness of using masks and sanitizers during COVID 19. It is a statutory requirement to obey the instructions of State or District authorities to wear masks. Hence, the Legal Aid Clinic.

In this Camp, people who were not using masks were explained the importance of using masks. Also, they were explained the importance of washing hands and using sanitizers and the importance of social distancing. On this occasion about 1000 masks and 500 sanitizers were distributed to the poor people who were not having masks.

This camp was organized at Inderganj Chouraha, Gwalior. Inderganj Chouraha of Gwalior is the most active roundabout of Gwalior where vendors, passerby, lawyers, clients, labourers -almost all types of people are found. District Court, Police Station and showrooms are also located at this Chouraha. Therefore, this place was selected for organising the camp. Student volunteers also covered Dal Bazaar, vegetable vendors and passerby who were not using masks and distributed masks to them. The students actively identified the people who were not using masks or using cotton cloth to cover their faces. They were sensitized to use the masks regularly. The social distancing was well followed in camp by organisers and participants.

The sanitizers were sponsored by the student of ALS Ms Aishwarya Shandilya BBALLB 5th Sem. Ms Aishwarya Shandilya established the Unit to manufacture sanitizers and soaps during lockdown period. She employed the women workers in this work, who lost their jobs due to lockdown and promoting the notion of 'Atmanirbhar Bharat'.

On the auspicious occasion of birthday of our Hon'ble Chancellor, it was a great pleasure distributing masks and sanitizers to the needy people and creating awareness during the period of Pandemic.

Maj Gen Rajinder Kumar, AVSM, SM, VSM Director ALS, Mr Rituraj Singh Chouhan Secretary, District Legal Aid Services, Prof (Dr) Rakhi Singh Chouhan HoD ALS, Prof (Dr) Sandeep Kulshrestha, Dr Krati Rajoriya, Mr Arun Assistant Professors and Mr Fateh Singh supporting staff were present in camp. Around 14 student volunteers were present in camp, who had joined after due permission of their parents.

PARLIAMENTARY DEBATE, 2021

(Mode- Virtual Event)

INTER-FAITH MARRIAGES: CONTROVERSY

20th March, 2021

"RULE BOOK"

Amity Law School
Amity University Madhya Pradesh,
Gwalior-474005

Amity

Amity Law School, A.U.M.P

Topic: - INTER-FAITH MARRIAGES: CONTROVERSY.

Date: - 20th March, 2021

Rules of Parliamentary Debate

- 1) The debate will be presided over by Mr. or Madam Speaker.
- 2) The Government team (the side in favor) shall sit on the right hand side of the Speaker. The Opposition (the side against) shall sit on the left.
- 3) The speaking order will be as follows: the Prime Minister followed by the first Opposition Member then the Minister of the Crown (second Government speaker) and followed by the Leader of the Opposition (second Opposition speaker). Finally the Prime Minister will deliver the Government rebuttal.
- 4) Maximum speaking times are 5 minutes for the Prime Minister's first speech, 5 minutes for the other speeches, 8 minutes for the Leader of the Opposition's speech, and 3 minutes for the Prime Minister's rebuttal. There are no minimum times.
- 5) During the rebuttal, Members (debaters) may not bring up any new arguments or new evidence except in direct refutation of material which has already been presented.
- 6) All remarks must be addressed to the Speaker of the House and not to anyone else, e.g. say "Mr. Speaker" not "Mr. Speaker, honorable judges". The Member must address Mr. Speaker in his/her first sentence.
- 7) Other Members (debaters and members of the audience) should be referred to by their constituency (e.g. the Member for their last name or their city), office (e.g. the Prime Minister) or as "The Honorable Member" or "The Honorable Gentlemen" or "The Honorable Lady". They may be referred to as "he" or "she" but never as "you".
- 8) Members will speak only when called upon by the Speaker. There is to be no heckling. There will be no Points of Order or Points of Personal Privilege raised.
- 9) Points of Information are raised while another Member has the floor (i.e. is speaking). If a Member wishes to raise a Point of Information, he/she should stand and with one hand on their head and another pointing forward (in teapot-style) and say: "On that point". The person who is speaking may refuse to take the point saying: "Not at this time."

Rasul

Alternatively, they may choose to take the point. If the speaker refuses the point, the Member raising the POI must sit down. Otherwise, they should deliver their point as succinctly as possible (in less than 15 seconds). Often the point is phrased as a question. All speakers should attempt to both deliver at least one POI (Point of Information) and to accept one POI during the course of the debate.

- 10) The first and last minute of each constructive speech is considered protected time during which no POIs can be made. In addition, no POIs may be made during the Prime Minister's final rebuttal or during the last three minutes of the Leader of the Opposition's speech (also considered rebuttal time).
- 11) The Government must define the resolution. Their definition must be accepted unless it is un-debatable or unreasonable. If the Opposition wishes to challenge the definition they must do so prior to the start of the debate by appealing to the tournament organizer. The Opposition must show that the Government's definition is unacceptable and then substitute their own. Definitions may not be challenged during the debate.
- 12) The Government may introduce a plan for implementing the resolution if they wish to, but they are not required to do so. If they do propose a plan, they must fully explain it during the Prime Minister's speech.
- 13) If, and only if, the Government introduces a plan, the Opposition may introduce a counter plan, but it is not required to do so. A counter plan is an alternative method of implementing the resolution which is significantly different from the Government plan and is demonstrably better than the Government plan. If the Opposition wants to introduce a counter plan, they must fully explain it during the address of their first speaker.
- 14) Props (e.g. drawings, models) may not be used. 15) Courtesy must be shown to all other Members at all times.

Qasbi

- Teams will be designated as the Proposition or the Opposition for each round of the competition.

For Adjudication

- The debate should be adjudicated by a panel of at least three adjudicators, where this is possible.
- The adjudicators may confer and discuss the debate and their feedback (in no event for more than 20 minutes) before announcing the results before the teams. In all of these rounds (except for the finals), there will be an open adjudication after decision for each debate is announced, where adjudicators will give reasons for their decision and other feedback to the teams. However, the adjudication sheets will not be shown to debaters or other participants.
- All the debaters must leave the chambers following the completion of all speeches. Debaters should not indulge in, and adjudicators should not entertain, argumentation or cross questioning at the time of the open adjudication.
- At the conclusion of the debate, the adjudicators should confer and rank the teams.

The Definition

- The definition should state the issue (or issues) for debate arising out of the motion and state the meaning of any terms in the motion which require interpretation.
- The Prime Minister should provide the definition at the beginning of his or her speech.

- The definition must have a clear and logical link to the motion - this means that an average reasonable person would accept the link made by the member between the motion and the definition (where there is no such link the definition is sometimes referred to as a "squirrel")

- Not be self-proving - a definition is self-proving when the case is that something should or should not be done and there is no reasonable rebuttal.

- A definition may also be self-proving when the case is that a certain state of affairs exists or does not exist and there is no reasonable rebuttal (these definitions are sometimes referred to as "truisms").

- Not be time set - this means that the debate must take place in the present and that the definition cannot set the debate in the past or the future.

- Not be place set unfairly - this means that the definition cannot restrict the debate so narrowly to a particular geographical or political location that a participant of the tournament could not reasonably be expected to have knowledge of the place.

Challenging the Definition

- The Leader of the Opposition may challenge the definition if it deems to violate the above mentioned rules. The Leader of the Opposition should clearly state that he or she is challenging the definition

- The Leader of the Opposition should substitute an alternative definition after challenging the definition of the Prime Minister

Gauging the Definitional Challenge

- The adjudicator shall determine the definition to be „unreasonable“ where it violates the rules.
- The onus to establish that the definition is unreasonable is on the members asserting that the definition is unreasonable.

Arora

- Where the definition is unreasonable; the opposition should substitute an alternative definition that should be accepted by the adjudicator provided it is not unreasonable.
- Where the definition of the Opening Government is unreasonable and an alternative definition is substituted by the Opening Opposition, the Closing Government may introduce matter which is inconsistent with the matter presented by the Opening Government and consistent with the definition of the Opening Opposition.
- If the Opening Opposition has substituted a definition that is also unreasonable, the Closing Government may challenge the definition of the Opening Opposition and substitute an alternative definition.
- If the Closing Government has substituted a definition that is also unreasonable (in addition to the unreasonable definitions of the Opening Government and Opening Opposition,) the Closing Opposition may challenge the definition of the Closing Government and substitute an alternative definition.

The Definition of Matter

- Matter is the content of the speech. It is the arguments a debater uses to further his or her case and persuade the audience.
- Matter includes arguments and reasoning, examples, case studies, facts and any other material that attempts to further the case.
- Matter includes positive (or substantive) material and rebuttal (arguments specifically aimed to refute the arguments of the opposing team(s)). Matter includes Points of Information.

The Elements of Matter

- Matter should be relevant, logical and consistent.
- Matter should be relevant. It should relate to the issues of the debate: positive material should support the case being presented and rebuttal should refute the material being presented by the opposing team(s). The Member should appropriately prioritize and apportion time to the dynamic issues of the debate

- Matter should be logical. Arguments should be developed logically in order to be clear and well - reasoned and therefore plausible. The conclusion of all arguments should support the member's case.

- Matter should be consistent. Members should ensure that the matter they present is consistent within their speech, their team and the remainder of the members on their side of the debate. • All Members should present positive matter (except the final two members in the debate) and all members should present rebuttal (except the first member in the debate). The Government Whip may choose to present positive matter.

- All Members should attempt to answer at least two points of information during their own speech and offer points of information during opposing speeches.

Assessing the Matter

- The adjudicator should determine the definition to be „unreasonable“ where it violates the provided rules.

- The onus to establish that the definition is unreasonable is on the members asserting that the definition is unreasonable.

- The matter presented should be persuasive. „The elements of matter“ should assist an adjudicator to assess the persuasiveness and credibility of the matter presented.

- Matter should be assessed from the viewpoint of the average reasonable person. Adjudicators should analyze the matter presented and assess its persuasiveness, while disregarding any specialist knowledge they may have on the issue of the debate.

- Points of information should be assessed according to the effect they have on the persuasiveness of the cases of both the member answering the point of information and the member offering the point of information.

- Adjudicators should not allow bias to influence their assessment. Debaters should not be discriminated against on the basis of religion, sex, race, color, nationality, sexual preference, age, social status or disability.

The Definition of Manner

- Manner is the presentation of the speech. It is the style and structure a member uses to further his or her case and persuade the audience.
- Manner is comprised of many separate elements. Some, but not all, of these elements are listed below

The Element of Style

- The elements of style include eye contact, voice modulation, hand gestures, language, the use of notes and any other element which may affect the effectiveness of the presentation of the member.
- Eye contact will generally assist a member to persuade an audience as it allows the member to appear more sincere.
- Voice modulation will generally assist a member to persuade an audience as the debater may emphasize important arguments and keep the attention of the audience. This includes the pitch, tone, and volume of the member's voice and the use of pauses.
- Hand gestures will generally assist a member to emphasize important arguments. Excessive hand movements may however be distracting and reduce the attentiveness of the audience to the arguments.
- Language should be clear and simple. Members who use language which is too verbose or confusing may detract from the argument if they lose the attention of the audience.
- The use of notes is permitted, but members should be careful that they do not rely on their notes too much and detract from the other elements of manner.

The Elements of Structure

Lucy

- The elements of structure include the structure of the speech of the member and the structure of the speech of the team.
- The matter of the speech of each member must be structured. The member should organize his or her matter to improve the effectiveness of their presentation.
- The matter of the team must be structured. The team should organize their matter to improve the effectiveness of their presentation. The team should contain a consistent approach to the issues being debated; and o Allocate positive matter to each member where both members of the team are introducing positive matter; and o include: an introduction, conclusion and a series of arguments; and be well-timed in accordance with the time limitations and the need to prioritize and apportion time to matter.

Assessing Manner

- Adjudicators should assess the elements of manner together in order to determine the overall effectiveness of the member's presentation. Adjudicators should assess whether the member's presentation is assisted or diminished by their manner.
- Adjudicators should be aware that at a World Championship, there are many styles which are appropriate, and that they should not discriminate against a member simply because the manner would be deemed „inappropriate Parliamentary debating“ in their own country.
- Adjudicators should not allow bias to influence their assessment. Members should not be discriminated against on the basis of religion, sex, race, color, nationality, language, sexual preference, age, social status or disability.

The Adjudication

- All the rounds will be knock outs.
- The adjudicators will announce the decision of the debate at the debate venue.
- The decision of the judges will be final and cannot be challenged.

Roohi

- Marks will not be disclosed. Marking Adjudicators After each debate adjudicators will be marked on the scale of 1 to 5 by teams on the basis of feedback given by them and their analysis.

Verbal Adjudication

- The members may approach an adjudicator for further clarification following the adjudication; these inquiries must at all times be polite and non-confrontational. Identify the order in which the teams were ranked. Explain the reasons for the rankings of team, ensuring that each team is referred to in this explanation; and Provide constructive comments to individual members where the adjudication panel believes this is necessary

- The verbal adjudication should not exceed 10 minutes.

- The members must not harass the adjudicators following the verbal adjudication. The members may approach an adjudicator for further clarification following the verbal adjudication; these inquiries must at all times be polite and non- confrontational.

1. Objective/Inspiration

The Model United Nations 5.0 was organized with the following objectives:

- d. Improves diplomacy and negotiating skills. Since MUN is diplomatic simulations, respect and cooperation are the fundamental rules of the debate.
- e. Meet new people. MUN is a concentration of different people from other places and other cities. It is fun to meet other people and learn from them.
- f. MUN is Fun. Every MUN organises social events, which are opportunities to have a good time with the people you have met. It could result in a peaceful feeling and harmony among different cultures. People always have fun at MUN.
- g. Will develop essential skills-both as an individual but also for their future career such as organising abilities, public speaking, etc.
- h. Will improve their knowledge of global issues and facing the world.

'कानून' का अर्थ हम जानते हैं कि वह
 जो संसद के अधिनियमों द्वारा बनाया जाता
 है, वह कानून है। लेकिन हमें यह भी
 याद रखना चाहिए कि कानून का अर्थ
 है वह जो हमें अपने जीवन में
 चलना पड़ेगा, वह कानून है।
 इसलिए हमें अपने जीवन में
 कानून का पालन करना चाहिए।
 कानून ही है जो हमें अपने जीवन में
 जीना पड़ेगा, वह कानून है।
 इसलिए हमें अपने जीवन में
 कानून का पालन करना चाहिए।
