SDG10: Reduced Inequalities

1. Commitment and Institutional Framework

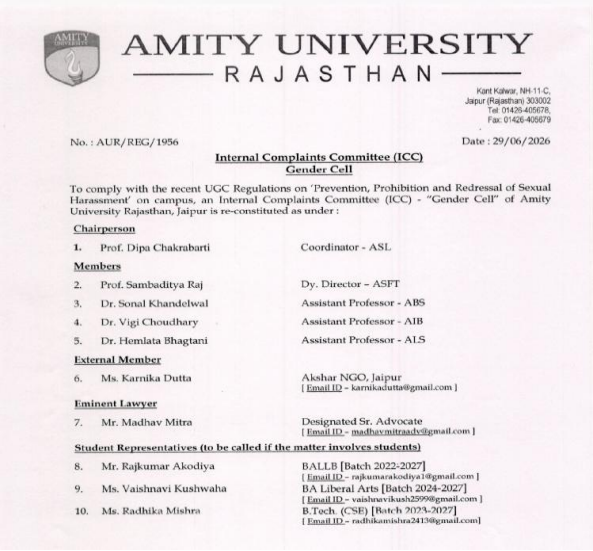

The Amity University Rajasthan is dedicated to working towards reducing inequality and ensuring inclusive, equitable, and accessible higher education in accordance with the United Nations Sustainable Development Goal 10 (Reduced Inequalities). The institution aims to provide equal opportunity for admissions, participation, academic success, research, employment, and career development regardless of caste, religion, gender, socio-economic status, disability, or geographical location. The University understands the need to increase accessibility of higher education to first generation students and those from disadvantaged and underrepresented communities. It ensures provision of necessary support through student support services, academic mentorship, counseling, and institutional assistance to help remove obstacles of participation in education. Its diverse group of faculty members, research scholars, and students belonging to different regions makes the university community inclusive. Amity University Rajasthan has institutional mechanisms in place to combat discrimination, ensure equal treatment, and maintain the dignity of members of the University community. Such mechanisms are the Gender Cell and the committee that works for preventing caste-based discrimination. These mechanisms contribute towards creating awareness about issues related to discrimination and handling complaints. The University understands the necessity to extend appropriate aid to the individuals with disabilities and the students who require extra help. By providing student support services and other necessary provisions at the institutional level, it aims to ensure equality of access to education, academic assistance, counseling services, and other required forms of assistance. The University tries to create an environment wherein individual needs are met with due consideration of respect and equality. The programs and activities organized by the Amity Institute of Behavioural and Allied Sciences, Amity Institute of Clinical Psychology, and ASBC pertain to behavioral wellness, counseling, social consciousness, and other community issues. Social inclusion, elimination of any form of discrimination based on the difference and promotion of diversity are among the goals of the University through its involvement in education and outreach activities, interaction with schools and higher education institutions, and raising awareness about various community issues. The University follows an accessible and student-centered approach in governance wherein the students are encouraged to raise any issues they face and seek help from institutional sources. There are special student support services and the required authorities in the University to address academic and institutional concerns of the students. Through these institutional mechanisms, student support initiatives, awareness programmes, and inclusive governance practices, Amity University Rajasthan seeks to contribute to the objectives of SDG 10 by reducing barriers to higher education, supporting underrepresented groups, preventing discrimination, and promoting equitable opportunities for all members of its academic community.

2. Institutional Actions, Policies and Equality Support

Amity University Rajasthan has constituted institutional mechanisms to address discrimination and promote equal opportunity. The Gender Cell, identified in the report as the Internal Complaints Committee (ICC), provides a mechanism for addressing complaints and supporting a safe and respectful campus environment. The Equal Opportunity Cell has been constituted to oversee and suggest measures for ensuring equal opportunities for differently-abled students, faculty and staff. Its stated responsibilities include preparing guidelines, supporting barrier-free access in accordance with applicable accessibility guidelines, and looking into complaints. The University's Anti-Discrimination and Anti-Harassment Policy sets out the institutional framework for preventing discrimination and harassment and addressing complaints. The committee and policy documents are retained in this report as supporting evidence.

Collaborations and Knowledge Exchange

The report records community engagement through the Unnat Bharat Abhiyan (UBA) Cell and collaboration with Amity Law School for the Legal Aid and Cybercrime Awareness Camp at Kant Village. The camp involved the Secretary, District Legal Services Authority (DLSA), Jaipur, along with local village and school representatives. These engagements connected university expertise with local educational and community needs. The source report does not identify a formal MoU for these activities.

3. Key Events and Activities (July 2025–June 2026)

1. Community Support, Inclusive Education and Rural Development

Donation of Mat at Government School, Kushalpura

In August 2025, the Unnat Bharat Abhiyan (UBA) Cell of Amity University Rajasthan visited the Government School in Kushalpura to support the learning environment in this rural school.

Students from the UBA Cell, accompanied by Faculty Coordinator Dr. Manoj Kumar and Registrar Dr. Nitin Bhardwaj, presented the school with a 15 × 10 ft floor mat. The contribution was intended to provide students with a clean and comfortable seating arrangement during classroom activities.

The school welcomed the contribution. The visit also gave the university team an opportunity to interact with students and understand their learning needs.

The activity supported a basic educational need in the adopted village and reflected the University's community engagement under UBA.

2. Legal Awareness, Digital Safety and Access to Justice

Legal Aid and Cybercrime Awareness Camp at Kant Village

On 7 October 2025, the Unnat Bharat Abhiyan (UBA) Cell, in collaboration with Amity Law School, organised a Legal Aid and Cybercrime Awareness Camp at Rajkiya Uchh-Madhyamic Vidhyalaya, Kant Village, Amer Block. The camp addressed cybercrime, online scams and financial fraud, with a focus on improving legal and digital awareness among students and villagers.Participants included Shri Pawan Kumar Jeenwal, Secretary, DLSA Jaipur; Sarpanch Shri Hari Ram Meena; and Principal

Shri Sita Ram Regar. Principal Shri Sita Ram Regar welcomed the initiative and addressed the gathering. Shri Jeenwal explained common forms of cybercrime, including banking fraud, online scams and misuse of digital platforms. He urged participants to remain alert while using digital services. He also advised residents to verify payment requests and other details before making online transactions, and discussed concerns about young people becoming involved in cybercrime.An interactive question-and-answer session allowed students and villagers to raise concerns and clarify practical questions about online safety and legal assistance.

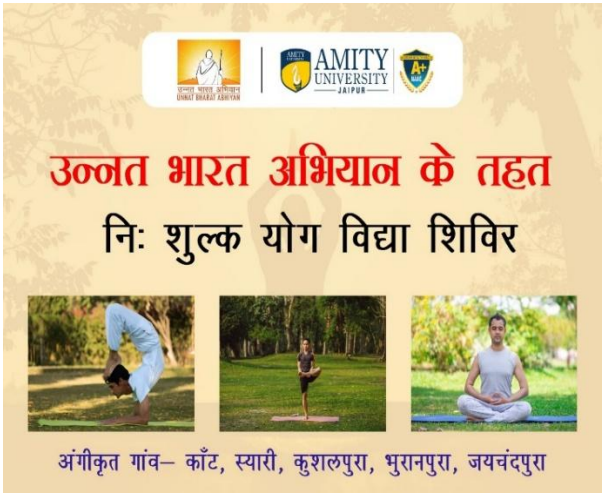

3. Health, Well-being and Inclusion in Rural Communities

Integrated Yoga Model for the Elderly: A Preventive Measure

Under the Unnat Bharat Abhiyan initiative, the University conducted yoga sessions with residents of Kant village, focusing on regular practice, improved sleep and reduced distress among older adults. The sessions combined asanas with breathing awareness and mindfulness. Activities included Om chanting, pranayama, Nadi Shuddhi, Anulom Vilom, seated postures, Parvatasana, Tadasana, Vrikshasana, mindfulness meditation and gratitude practice. Participants were guided to coordinate movement with breathing and practise each exercise at a comfortable level.

4. Digital Inclusion, Cybersecurity and Community Awareness

Cybersafe: Empowering Villagers with Cybersecurity Awareness for Digital Well-being

The Cybersafe project delivered cybersecurity awareness sessions for teachers and community members in adopted villages. It aimed to strengthen understanding of online risks and promote safer use of digital services.

Training covered phishing, identity theft, online scams, suspicious messages, strong passwords and software updates. Teachers were encouraged to share these practices with students and colleagues.

The sessions also addressed secure internet browsing, data privacy and responsible social media use. Teachers were encouraged to act as local resource persons by sharing safe digital practices with students, parents and fellow educators.

4. Institutional Impact and Contribution to SDG 10

The activities documented in this report demonstrate the University's contribution to reducing inequalities through community support, inclusive education, legal and digital awareness, health and well-being outreach, and institutional safeguards. The donation of a floor mat to Government School, Kushalpura addressed a basic classroom requirement in an adopted village. The legal aid and cybercrime awareness camp at Kant Village improved access to information on online fraud, digital safety and legal assistance. Yoga sessions for older residents supported community well-being, while the Cybersafe project addressed digital risks through practical training and the distribution of cybersecurity booklets. The constitution of the Gender Cell and Equal Opportunity Cell, together with the Anti-Discrimination and Anti-Harassment Policy, provides an institutional basis for addressing complaints and promoting equal treatment. Taken together, these measures support more accessible participation in education and community life.

5. Future Roadmap

Amity University Rajasthan may continue strengthening its SDG 10 contribution by

- Expanding outreach to adopted villages and government schools; conducting regular legal aid, cyber safety and digital literacy sessions;
- Reviewing the accessibility of campus facilities and learning resources for persons with disabilities; and increasing awareness of the Gender Cell, Equal Opportunity Cell and complaint procedures.
- Maintain consolidated records of beneficiaries, outreach locations, participation, complaints received and resolved, and accessibility measures. Such monitoring would help assess progress, identify underserved groups and guide future inclusion initiatives.
